

Study Day on

ART AND MUSIC

For teachers at Catholic Primary Schools

At COLOMA CONVENT GIRLS' SCHOOL, CROYDON, 9th February 2009

12 noon Buffet LUNCH (generously provided by Coloma School)

1.30pm Teaching Christ through Art – illustrated presentation by Lionel Gracey

Lionel Gracey studied medicine at Cambridge and Harvard. He was Consultant Surgeon to the Royal Free Hospital from 1966-91. Following his retirement, he studied theology at Maryvale Institute, Birmingham, where he now lectures in Religious Art.

TEA

3.30pm Enriching School Masses through Gregorian Chant – workshop with Jeremy de Satgé

Jeremy de Satgé is a singer, composer, choral director and music publisher. He is a Fellow of Trinity College of Music, London. Through his music publishing company, The Music Makers, he publishes new works of liturgical music suitable for parishes and resources to encourage the use of plainsong.

4.30pm MASS - at which we will sing some of the chant learned during the afternoon.

THERE IS NO CHARGE FOR THIS DAY

The Church has always used pictures as a way to teach. Children can be helped to enter the world of the Gospels and the Saints through paintings and sculptures. Lionel Gracey will suggest paths leading to this.

Gregorian chant is become very popular and has long been recognised as spiritually enriching. Young children are often open to chant. Jeremy de Satgé will suggest ways in which it can be used in workshop in primary schools.

Further information from the Association of Catholic Women
(<http://www.associationofcatholicwomen.co.uk>)

Please use the form below, returning it before 30th January 2009

To: Mr A Corish, Coloma Convent Girls' School, Upper Shirley Road, CR9 5AS

YES, I want to attend the Study Day on 9th February 2009

NAME (caps please)..... School.....

Email/tel. No.....

Any dietary requirements.....